If we want to create new laws it is fine, but we stumble every day on our condition, namely to manage our little world that we see around us. Children are our images and we stumble in front of our own images. It is about to be able to finish each month in good conditions.

We can believe that world is the way as we see it. We probably know how to be able to live in this world. However, can we still not have better than our simple condition ? Is it enough for me that I get back on my own ? Can't I get better for myself and others ? After all, Jesus praised the abundance by saying « Multiply yourselves ! ».

Understanding the world where I live can be useful to me just as it can be used by others. This is the profusion.

So we are leading a truth's research to improve this reality. We are looking for our problems' origin and we will only be able to solve this cause with others. We do politics that requires a personal ethic that goes beyond reality.
