During a near-death experience, spirit is much more real than physic. The person experiences directly unify facing to the new life's cosmic world.

We can use intuition to access to this unifying experience. This is the moment when we view consciousness. Indeed, we can only know ourselves through others. Knowing our consciousness, therefore, can only be done asking to others and meditating.

Then, as soon as consciousness is lost, nothing really makes sense anymore. We want to beg for a wholeness' sense. Joy is lost and we want to find it again.
