Our mind does not have the same dreams as other minds at the same time. So my mind is independent of the human mind. Contrary to what empiricism would like, I don't have access to everything.

Our questions and our knowledge will make our dreams true. If we are sure, our dreams will not ask us question while dreaming. If we are uncertain then questions will arise in our dreams.

Surely we don't have access to everything. Otherwise, we would not be able to think calmly.
