For me to hear a sound it happened silence. To view a movie, you need a white screen. Furniture is in a space. It is therefore silence that makes listening music possible, just as the film is projected on a white screen, just as the piece of furniture is located in our visible space.

So any object is carried by void, is created from void and returns to our mind's emptiness. We filter objects around us but we cannot completely filter noise around us.

A full object is at most emptiness. In the same way, a galaxy cannot hold out without universe's help. When we look into space, we see a lot of stars. Yet it is a huge void.
